INDORSED BY THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

ALSO BY THE BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL.

That the Kentucky Irish American is steadily growing in favor with its readers and usefulness to the public is evidenced by the action of the Central Labor Union and the Building Trades Council in giving it their indorsement, which is the more welcome and appreciated because unsolicited and unexpected. The publisher is grateful, and will endeavor to merit this additional recognition. Our friends will be pleased to learn that the proposition favoring the indorsement was unanimously adopted by the delegates of both bodies. The preamble and resolutions adopted by the Central Labor Union are as follows:

Whereas, Many misstatements have recently appeared in the press of this city relative to the Central Labor Union and organizations represented therein; and Whereas, The Kentucky Irish American has always been a consistent and unbiased champion of the trades union movement; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor Union indorse said Kentucky Irish American as the official newspaper of this body.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this organization and all affiliated unions be communicated to the public through the columns of the aforesaid paper.

IRISH UNITY.

The Question of Irish Catholics' Right to Higher Education Plainly Stated.

Catholic Bishops Issue Manifesto Presenting the Case to Government.

Irish Catholics Claim Only Same Rights Allowed Others in Ireland.

BALFOUR'S CONSTRUCTION ACCEPTED

The Catholic Bishops, at their meeting at Maynooth recently, adopted an important resolution on the university question. It was perfectly natural that they should notice the subject in a formal manner, and it was also to be expected that they would do so in very plain and decided terms. The position in which the question stands is as aggravating as it is unique. As the Bishops point out, the leading politicians on both sides in England have admitted the justice of the Catholic claim; the man who has most ably advocated that claim of late is actually one of the principal members of the present Government; yet religious bigotry is still so strong and rampant in England that it is able to terrorize Ministers into absolute inaction. Is it any wonder, under these circumstances, that Bishops should speak out, and speak out strongly, and should seize their annual meeting this year as a suitable occasion to do so, especially in view of the very reasonable stand they have recently taken on the points at issue?

One remark made in the Bishops' manifesto will be indorsed, and must necessarily be indorsed, by Mr. Balfour in particular. It is that, while the claim now made for a university for Irish Catholics is denied, unionism is incompatible with the concession of justice to the majority of the people of this country. Mr. Balfour himself said as much, and almost in so many words, in his famous letter some time since to his constituents in Manchester, when he asked them how he could defend the principal of Unionism if what the Irish Catholics asked for in this matter were refused. As the Bishops advanced this political argument, however, they might well have gone further and condemned the bigotry, not merely of some Unionists, but of many so-called home rule Liberals also. It is notorious that the strongest opponents in England of the Irish Catholic claim are to be found in the Liberal camp—namely, among the Nonconformist section. It is scarcely too much to say that it is these latter who have been the real motive power of the agitation against any concession, and we are convinced that it is fear of them, rather than of the bigots on their own side, which has stayed the hands of Ministers. As the Bishops were at it, we repeat, they might well have censured expressly the bigotry of the Nonconformists.

The allusion to the endowments of Trinity College with which the Bishops' manifesto concludes is, no doubt, but another way of saying that, if there is not to be leveling up, there should be leveling down; and the opponents of the Catholic claim may as well make up their minds that if justice to Irish Catholics continues to be denied, that thought will occur to many. At the same time there must be no misunderstanding on this subject. Irish Catholics have no desire whatever to touch Trinity College or its revenues. If the Protestants wish to keep both, they are perfectly welcome to both. They have had them for three hundred years, and let them retain them. In this matter Irish Catholics are perfectly willing to let bygones be bygones, especially as Trinity College, through its present Parliamentary representatives, has ranged itself on the side of the Irish Catholics. The only danger to Trinity College arises from a continuance of the present Protestant monopoly of the means of acquiring higher education, and this fact also was plainly pointed out by Mr. Balfour in the letter to which we have already referred. The conclusion is clear. From the point of view of those interested in the Protestant foundation as well as in the Union, the bigotry which stands in the way of justice being done all round must be stamped upon and defeated.

JUNIOR LEAGUE CHAMPIONS.

The Dr. C. F. Melton base ball team has so far proven itself the champion of the Junior League in this city, having lost but one game this season. After being repeatedly challenged by the Nieceley team, of the Senior League, the Meltons finally accepted and agreed to play on the Nieceley grounds last Sunday. The Meltons were there, but the Nieceleys failed to put in an appearance. The Meltons line up as follows: Doyle, c.; Bertle, p.; Ramsey, 1st b.; Devan, 2d b.; Pfumiller, 3d b.; Sinnett, s. s.; McQuaid, r. f.; McDanich, c. f.; O'Brecht, l. f.

JOHN HICKEY.

Not yet a year in business, John Hickey has built up a great trade and made a host of friends since his advent in Linerick. His New South saloon has become a most popular place, and when his anniversary rolls around he will give a reception heretofore unexcelled in Louisville. He is one of our good friends, and we wish him all kinds of success.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, aged sixty-one years, died at her residence, 2127 Griffiths avenue, Tuesday morning. The deceased was well known and highly respected in the West End and her death is mourned by a large number of friends and acquaintances. Her funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church Thursday morning and the burial was in St. Louis cemetery.

Charles Bach, one of the best-known young men in the southern part of the city, died Tuesday morning at his home, 2313 Brook street, in the twenty-third year of his age. His funeral took place from the Dominican church Thursday morning, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

The funeral of Thomas Fitzgerald, the fireman who was killed in the railroad accident near Nashville Wednesday, occurred yesterday morning from the Dominican church. The large attendance attested the respect in which he was held by his fellow-railroad men and the community where he lived.

We regret to announce the death of William R. Smith, which occurred Wednesday at the residence of his mother, Eighth and Jefferson streets. His funeral took place from the Cathedral yesterday morning.

John Timmons, for many years foreman at the Pullman repair shops, died suddenly Sunday at Tenth street depot from an attack of apoplexy. His funeral took place Monday morning from the Sacred Heart church.

LIMERICK KNOCKERS' CLUB.

A full meeting of the members of the Limerick Knockers' Club was held at Dr. Melton's club-rooms last Tuesday evening, the occasion being the election of officers. Steve McElliott was re-elected President, his past reputation as a wielder of the hammer carrying him through for another term. John Burke was elected Vice President, John Barry as Secretary, and Dr. Melton as Treasurer. The following were elected members of the Executive Committee: William Casey, Charlie Ormsby, Ed Toomey and William Duane. The President was presented with a gavel in the shape of a decorated hammer by the members.

PUT OUT THE FIRE.

Mike Walsh, the well-known painting contractor, distinguished himself the Fourth of July by preventing a serious conflagration on Oldham street, between Seventh and Eighth. He discovered the blaze and immediately organized a bucket brigade and soon quenched the flames, obviating the necessity of calling out the fire department. Mike has not before moved so lively since he quit umpiring ball games.

MICHAEL DAVITT

Puts Posers to Joseph Chamberlain, Who Dares Not Reply.

Draws Parallel Between Conditions in South Africa and British Guiana.

Justice Which the British Dispense When They Have the Power.

WILL OPEN THE EYES OF AMERICANS

A dispatch from London to the New York Journal says: Michael Davitt has discovered a parallel between the Boers' refusal to grant to the Uitlanders the franchise and the treatment of the Dutch populace in British Guiana. He prepared a series of questions to be put in Parliament on the subject, but the Speaker overruled them. Davitt handed the questions to the correspondent, saying it would help to open the eyes of Americans to the kind of justice which the British dispense when they have the power as compared with the clamorous demands they make when other nations treat them after their own fashion.

A copy of the questions was sent to Joseph Chamberlain, who did not deign to reply. In substance Davitt asked whether Chamberlain's attention had been directed to the proposed convention in Boston during the present month of a body calling itself the Junta of British Guiana; whether there are grounds for the grievances which are alleged among the mining and agricultural population of the colony as to a restricted franchise and non-representative system of government; whether out of a total population of upward of 300,000 there are less than 3,000 voters in that colony; whether any of the Dutch native Guianians hold any office in the government of the colony, and if it be true that the administration and legislation franchise of the colony is exclusively in the hands of the British-born citizens, who number only 3,000 of the total population.

SPORTY ITEMS.

The best pugilistic event that ever took place in this city was witnessed by a small crowd at Music Hall Monday night, when George Dixon disposed of Sam Bolen in three rounds. The fighting was fast and furious, Dixon being instructed by Tom O'Rourke to make short work of his adversary. Bolen displayed great pluck, but never stood any chance to win the title to the featherweight championship. Dixon had been training here for his match with Tommy White, which takes place in Denver Tuesday evening. The fight was under the auspices of the Nonpareil Athletic Club, and the small attendance has been attributed to the knocking of those whose greed and mismanagement had almost ruined the sport in Louisville. The contests under the auspices of the Nonpareil Club are always on the square, no fakes or letups being permitted.

Frank Erue, of Buffalo, had no trouble in wrestling the lightweight championship from Kid Lavigne before the Hawthorne Club Monday night. They went to the full twenty rounds, but Referee John Kelly gave the decision to the Buffalo boy, who left the ring without a mark, although he had broken the bones of his left hand in the ninth round, which was all that saved the Kid from being knocked out.

The statement has been made that Tom Sharkey will engage Peter Jackson to spar and train with him for his coming encounter with Jim Jeffries. Some one has been hitting the rifle.

A dispatch from London says Jim Jeffries has been matched to meet Charles Mitchell, the fight to take place between August 25 and 30. Another victory for America.

The celebration of the local Rough Riders August 7 will embrace many novel features, among them a reproduction of the Midway at the World's Fair.

Oscar Gardner, the Omaha Kid, says he has signed articles to meet Jack O'Brien in a twenty-round bout at Coney Island August 1.

John Hickey and Joe Coyne were among the most conspicuous at the Dixon-Bolen bout, and they were on the right side, too.
